Update 2013

2013 California Tribal Water Summit

California Indigenous Rights, Uses and Management of Water and Land:
Leveraging the strengths and resources of Tribal, State and Federal agencies through collaboration

We invite you to attend the Tribal Water Summit.

This is a meeting of Tribal, State, and Federal leaders to discuss tribal water issues in California, scheduled on April 24-25, 2013.

The key agenda topics will cover:

- Tribal Ecological Knowledge
- Watershed Management and Land Use
- Indigenous Rights and Water

At the 2009 Tribal Water Summit, there were over 300 participants. This is the largest gathering of Federal, State, and Tribal leaders addressing complex water issues in California.

Our goals are to:

Develop a dialogue of mutual respect between agencies and tribes on water issues;

Maximize resources and ensure legal compliance for agencies and Tribes through effective partnerships.

We hope you can join us!
